Mount Veſuvius is ſtill covered with a thick Cloud of Aſhes; all Noiſe has ceaſed, and the running of the Lava is ſtopped. The former Crater has fallen in.

in, and the Cone of the Volcano is lowered Four or Five Hundred Feet, the present Crater being enlarged and nearly upon a Level with the Top of the Mountain of Somma. The Ashes that were carried up, with a Column of Water and Smoke to the perpendicular Height of Four Miles, have fallen and done infinite Mischief to the Town, Villages and Country at the Foot of that Mountain, throwing down some Houses and bearing in the Roofs of many. Several Families from Torre del Greco are still missing, but it is believed that very few Lives have been lost. The Lava, that ran over the greatest Part of that Town in it's Way to the Sea, where it has raised a Promontory, is in some Places Seventy Feet high, and it's Breadth about a Quarter of a Mile. The Whole of it's Course may be about Four Miles, which it performed in less than Four Hours.
